

"There's what gives it that corkscrew effect," Gus said, as he stood on one end of the front bumper and bounced the car as violently as he could

