

He took three large tablets and dropped them into the gas tank. Then he got into the car and stepped on the starter. The engine took off