The long trailer leaned drunkenly under its cargo of poles, directly above the small house in the ravine.
