

As Gus swung around, the garage darkened, the headlight glow only a shrinking sliver of light under the closing door.