

Gus put the car in high, and walked around to the rear. Seizing the tire, with a quick heave he pulled it toward him, and after several attempts the motor broke into a fitful coughing, then ran steadily