

Gus poked one potato sack down into the mud against the tire that was mired, and spread another in front of the wheel on the road