

Gus got a file and worked at the points until they were bright—and his hands were almost numb!