

"It's a queer thing, Doc," Gus said. "But when a fellow is trouble-shooting, the last thing he's likely to think of is the breathing parts of a car. Folks keep forgetting a car is like a human being in more ways than you'd suspect."

