

This dual-purpose intake air-conditions the car for passengers and supplies air cooling for the engine

GUS SAYS:

This month, while you've been reading about postwar cars, the Model Garage has been closed so that Joe and I could take a little vacation. Since most of us are going to be considering these new cars when the Axis has been polished off, I'd like to know what you thought of Alfred Sinks' article. Write Gus Wilson, care of P.S.M., and tell me what features you want in the next new car you buy.
